ANOTHER TURN OF THE CARDS. The Panama Railroad and the Pacific Mai

The struggle for the control of the Pacific The struggle for the control of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company was finished yesterday with a decided victory for the opposition, the Panama Railroad Company's most influential directors. Back of Mesars. Marshall, Park, Clyde, and Francklyn, is another who in this struggle has secured his second victory over law thought parameter. Jay Gould, namely, Frederick Lane, Mr. Lane was second only to Gen. Sickles in the Eric coup d'état. With characteristic vindictiveness Gould pursued Lane after the turn out and made the victory, as far as he was concerned and made the victory and a barren one. In the latest struggle Mr. Lane seems to have managed his forces with consummate address. The operators who in the wake of Gould were persistently bearing the stock hasten and profit by the work of spoli-hasten and profit by the work of spoli-ation. Its treasury was wholly unequal to the task of sustaining the magnificent expendi-tures of the Board of Public Works, presided over by H. D. Cooke and controlled by A. R. Snepherd. The Committee on Resolutions reported a set in favor of no bank issue to be authorized by the United States or State authorities; that the Government supply the paper money needed in the shape of greenthe paper money needed in the shape of green-backs; demanding the immediate repeal of the act providing for the resumption of spacie pay-ment, and instructing the delegates to vote for Gov. Hendricks. A few members, neaded by Thomas Fenton, made a vigorous light against the platform, and the instructions to vote for Gov. Hendricks, but at midnight the report of the committee was adopted by a vote of 182 to 104. The delegates at large are: Ex-Gov. Wilson Shannon, C. W. Blair, isaac Eaton, and J. H.Tay-lor. The Attorney-General will immediately notice for trial the Derison case, in which $450,000 is sued for by the State as moneys fraudulently obtained by the Port Schuyler contract on the Eric Canal. Justice Dameis, who tried George D. Lord, will try this case. It was generally understood that Justice Westbrook's nostponement of the other Denison case until June 12 destroyed all the Governor's chances of glory over a successful suit until after the St. Louis Convention. The proclamation looks as though he did not think so.

Beriah B. Rogers, the eashier in the Fulton Bank, Brooklyn, who started off with $25,000 of the bank's money to establish a stock farm in Tennessee, yesterday withdrew his pice of not guilty, and picaded guilty. His friends intend to let him go to the penitendary, and then work for a paraos.

FORTY-FOURTH CONGRESS. A RESOLUTION TO ADJOURN THE SESSION ON JUNE 19.

The District Attorneys' Offices in New York and Brocklyn to be Investigated—The Naval Appropriation Bill in the House.

Washington, May 19.—In the House to day Mr. Morrison (Dem., Iii.) offered a resolution for the flual adjournment of this session of Con-gress at 4 o'clock on June 12. Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

On motion of Mr. Cox (Dem., N. Y.) the Senate amendments to the bill relieving Wm. Maury of New York of political disabilities were concurred

Mr. Meade (Dem., N. Y.), from the Committee on Expenditures in the Department of Justice, to proceed to Brooklyn and New York, and make examination there of matters pertaining to the Department of Justice. Adopted.

Mr. Baker (Rep., Ind.) called attention to the omission from the Congressional Record of the Rhode Island, in the course of the speech made by Mr. Singleton of Mississippi, a few days ago, on the subject of the Congressional Printer; also of the omission of everything connected with the point of order made on that occasion by Mr. Garfield of Ohio, and of the somewhat angry dialogue between Mr. Garfield and Mr. Singleton. He offered a resolution instructing the reporters to supply the omissions in the Record, and instructing the Committee on Rules

Record, and instructing the Committee on Rules to report what amendment of the rules is needed to have the proceedings of the House printed in the Record without any change, alteration, or omission.

Mr. Randall (Dem., Pa.) submitted the point whether this was a question of privilege, and the Speaker pro tem. (Mr. Cox) ruled that it was.

Mr. Singleton (Dem., Miss.) explained that there was no blame to be attached to the reporters; but added that one of them had informed him that the gentlemen on the other side of the House who had been engaged in that little controversy did not care to have their remarks appear in the Congressional Record, and that als (Singleton's) response had been that he did not care about it. He had no objection to the restoration of the omissions, for he never said anything that he was not willing to have published.

EXPLANATIONS.

Mr. Garfield (Rep., Onio) gave his explanation, which was that Mr. Lamar (Dem., Miss.) came to him, as he understood from his colleague, stating that his colleague's speech was in manuscript and that it would be a favor to him to have it printed continuously without the interruptions, and that his (Mr. Garfield's) response was that so far as he was personally concerned he had no objection to the omission of what he had said. He suggested that Mr. Singleton's speech might appear in a continuous form and that the interruptions might be added to it, but it seemed to be preferred that the latter should be omitted, and he did not feel like objecting to it.

be omitted, and he did not feel like objecting to it.

Mr. Ballou (Rep., R. I.) said that one of the reporters came to him and stated that it was Mr. Singleton's wish that the interruptions should be left out, and that Mr. Garleid had assented to it, and he (Ballou) said that if that was the case he should make no objection.

Mr. Eames (see, R. I.) made a like statement.

Mr. Baker called for the yeas and nays, and for tellers on the yeas and nays; but the House refused to order the yeas and nays, and the resolutions were laid on the table by a very large majority.

The NAVAL APPROPRIATIONS.

a different story from the one told by Fom Scott in regard to the way he was compensated for his services as President of that corporation. He testified that he had no definite understanding with the directors of the company as to the manner of his compensation or the amount he was to receive. There was a general underhimself, that in the event of his succeeding in connection with his testimony just referred to, left the impression on the minds of the members of the committee and of the spectators that he entered upon what he described as a herculean undertaking with no definite arrangement as to how he was to be rewarded for his services.

Now it is said by stock brokers well posted on financial subjects of this kind that there was a definite understanding between Scott and the directors of the Union Pacific Railroad. The directors, it is said, agreed to a proposition which Scott submitted to them, namely, that they should give him an option for 5.000 snares of Union Pacific stock at $10 on the soare, and that he (Scott) was to held this stock, in the event he took it, until it was builed up to $40 or $42 per share. This arrangement belog made, Scott accepted the Presidency, paid ins $50,000, and received his $0.00 snares of stock, the directors, then share it according to a pro rata as-

Scott accepted the Presidency, paid his $50,000, and received his $5000 shares of stock, the directors furnishing it according to a pro-rata assessment on themselves. Scott held on to his stock until it wis up to about $31 a share, and then he quietly unloaded and thus broke the market.

There was, of course, some feeling toward Scott on the part of the directors on account of this breach of faith, but he was able to make an explanation which they thought best to accept as satisfactory. At any rate it is claimed that Scott, by some such afrangement as this, made a clean $100,000 out of a pool speculation in the stock of the company. It is the duty of the Judiciary Committee to inquire into this matter and ascertain whether there is any foundation for this story, which is circumstantially told by men who in times past have had intimate connections with the Union Pacific management.

HOW A LIBEL SUIT ENDED.

The Startling Disclosures that Separated Husband and Wife. TROY, May 18 .- The long-pending libel Arthur, editor of the Troy Budget, was to-day brought to a close in the Supreme Court, the jury having returned a verdict of "no cause of

The suit was occasioned by the appearance in the Budget of July 15, 1875, of an article asso-ciating the plaintiff, Dr. Camp, with the crime of elling a county-house infant to the wife of Jack Goddard, a cornet player. The case was called on Wednesday, and the first witness was Col. C. L. MacArthur, who testified that the information contained in the article was received from Mr. Brownell, Superintendent of the County Poor. Witness had known Dr. Camp for twenty years, and had had no misunderstanding with him, but had no reason to doubt the truth of Mr. Brownell's statements in regard to him.

Jennie Richmond testified that she part $29 for his services in procuring a child from the county house, and that about the last of August, 1871, she went to the Institution, took the child away, and gave it to Mrs. Goddard.

Mrs. Goddard's testimony was, in effect, that she employed Dr. Camp to get her a child from the county house, and that the money, $35, was sent to him by the hard of Jennie Richmond. After witness had been subpoensed, Dr. Camp tried to prevent her from testifying, by threatening to exoseher to her busband to whom she had represented the child as his own. Camp wrote to Goddard, although he had promised to keep the affair a secret, and witness had seen the letter.

This afternoon the court reassembled. The Hon. Martin I. Townsend summed up for the defence in a remarkable speech that will add greatly to his aiready spiendid reputation. The Hon, R. A. Parmenter summed up for the plaintiff, claiming $10,000 damages for defamation of character; but the evidence had been so plain, and defendant's counsel had so clearly emphasized every point of it, that the plaintiff, as was seen before the jury retired, had not the ghost of a prospect of success. Indeed, he was more than defeated. A motion for a new trial on the minutes was denied, and the defendant was granted an allowance of $200 for extra costs.

Col. MacArthur's motive in publishing the article on which the libel suit was based was undoubtedly a righteous one; and although there were one or two inaccuracies in it, there was no mailce. At the time of the publication public rumor was busy with Dr. Camp's name; MacArthor merely gave a connected form to the reports he had heard from trustworth, sources, and called upon the authorities to make an investigation of the case, as well to vindicate the innocent as to secure the publication public rumor was busy with Dr. Camp's name; MacFaller on the family of one of the witnes

Government, and a land grant that is said to be worth $5,000,000. The company also issued $1,600,000 in bonds. The bunding of the road consumed the subsidy, the bonds, and about $1,000,000 of stock, but Mr. Treadwell thinks that there have been large proceeds from the lands, for which there is a good demand.

The chatter of the road was owned at first by ex-Senator Pomeroy of Kansas and his brother-in-law, Willis Gaylord, who transferred it to the company, retaining an interest for themselves. Ex Senator Pomeroy's name does not appear now in the list of persons owning an interest in the road and the contract, but that of Gaylord appears twice—once for his own avowed interest, and once as trustee for some one, supposed to be Pomeroy.

A Railway Company Defying the Law. HARTFORD, May 19.—Judge Grainger, in the Supreme Court to-day issued a percemptory mandamus to the New Haven and Northampton Railroad Company, ordering them to stop the trains at Plantsville depot. The Legislature of 1875 passed a law ordering that the trains he stopped at this station, but the railroad officers request to do so, and have disregarded the action of the Legislature. The Judge said the railroad company had defied the laws of the States long enough, and he would make the mandamus percemptory. A Railway Company Defying the Law.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

FRIDAY, May 19-P. M.-The excitement in Pacific Mail culminated this morning when the fact became known that the opposition to the present management had secured a sufficient amount of stock to control the ap-proaching election. The price, however, sd-vanced from 21 to 23 under a continuation of purchases for account of the short interest; but when this buying ceased, the stock was easily knocked down again to 21%, though later recovering to 22%, and closing 22%. The Panama Raffroad will be represented in the new manage ment by six of its present directors. The strength of this stock during the early transactions at the Exchange, added to the fact that the contest for the Pacific Mail had ended, caused a good number of shorts in Western Union and Lake Shore to cover their contracts, which will explain the rise ter from 53% to 54%; but the subsequent break in New Jersey Central of 5 % cent. from 88 to 83, ter from 53% to 54%; but the subsequent break in New Jersey Central of 5 % cent. from 88 to 83, and later of Michigan Central from 47% to 46%, changed the current of speculation, the downward movement having been assisted by the throwing overboard of both Lake Snore and Western Union by small pools recently manipulating these stocks for a rise, the lowest prices of the day having been generally established at the close. Erie was weak at 15%@14%; Delaware, Lackawanna and Western declined 3% to 105; and Union Pacific was also 3% lower at 55%, with a feverish and unsettled feeling throughout the list in the late dealings.

The total number of shares dealt in was 144.388, of which Western Union represented 39.300; Lake Shore, 38,400; Pacific Mall, 25,000; New Jersey Central, 7,823; Michigan Central, 5,900; Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, 4,400; Hock Island, 1,310; St. Paul, L000; the preferred, 1,800; Ohios, 1,200; Union Pacific, 1,970; Union Mining Co., 1,700; Producers' Consolidated Land and Petroleum Co., 600; Panama, 300; C., C. and I. The gold market displayed a good degree of strength as well as activity in the morning trade, and the price selvanced from 112% to 112%, but on liberal realizations there was a reaction to 112%, though closing at 112%. The specie engagements for Saturday amount to over $800,000, and this fact strengthened the final quotation. The following were the principal transactions:

Business Motices.

Every one at times feels the necessity of some restorative of the vital powers, depressed by mental or bodily exhaustion. In such conditions let every one, instead of flying to the alcoholic or medicins simulants, which must be followed by depression equal to their excitement, reinvigorate his deranged system by the natural tonic elements of the Feruvian Syrup.

Gentlement of the Feruvian Syrup.

Gentlement of the Feruvian Syrup.

Foughterment, N. Y., Oct. 18.

Gentlement is improved, my bowels are regular, my appetite is first rate. I have recommended to tomy friends, and they are using it.

There is an old physician in this city (older than I am) whas been in the drug business for forty years, who has seed the Syrup for three months, and gives it as its decided onlino that it is the best Alterative Tonic Medicine he ever knew.

Yours truly, W. C. Sterling.
